Bedford Hamers in full spirit in this year's London Marathon

Thirty-five Bedford Harriers took to the streets of London on a damp Sunday 23 April to test their wits at the 26.2 mile 26th Flora London marathon • televised live on the BBC.

A big round of applause is made to the number of runners who were taking part in their first marathon together with several members achieving PB times. Morgan Walters broke a club record securing a time of a shade over 2hours and 46minutes. This is one of the fastest times the club has seen with a finishing position of 60th for his age group.

It must be said that appropriate training for a marathon distance is a prerequisite. This was a clear learning opportunity in my circumstance since injury problems hampered the training schedule but it nevertheless made the marathon not impossible to achieve.

On pages 8 and 9 there are articles told by Gabs Arpaia on his Rome maratø n experience and Lesley Barè s on her experience in the London marathon. It is interestfng to hear the different experiences and how it may influence you to enter for a marathon in the not too distance future!

Editor's Column:- Running for All

Welcome to this new edition of the club magazine. The word On is simply added to the usual name The Run while the usual editor David Gallagher is on his sabbatical. It gives me great pleasure to be responsible in devising a magazine for the benefit of all club members. Thank you to all who have supported me with this.

A congratulations is in order to the new faces of the Bedford Harriers following the success of the Induction Evening in May. It is satisfying to see new people join the Bedford club who might have been apprehensive about running and are now beginning to realise the benefits of regular exercise. Keep up the good work.

Those that watched the televised Run for Glory series know that it illustrates the successes that can be gained from those new to the sport and have had to overcome personal challenges. It is commendable to anybody including Muzz (article on page 6) who is severely sighted and takes part in the sport regardless of personal circumstances. I share similar empathy to succeed as having a severe hearing loss has never prevented personal achievement and has given extra motivational success. Those that watched the final episode of the Run for Glory win remember it proving to be emotional and very satisfying to all.

2006 -1be Sfor, So Far

Yet another new year and so much has happened already. LDllh so much more to come in 2006. Cross-country the focus as a number addressed the event in Ampt Hill Park and some cracking images taken by Urs truly and others on the day. January came and went so swiftly and then the unpredictable month that is February. I recall a seriously wet day as a number of members addressed the Stamford 30k as a prelude to a possible marathon outing in April. A number of personal bests on the day. March was a cracking month as I focused not only on Harriers in action but my other passion - Leicester Tigers. They just happened to be playing at the Millennium Stadium in Cardiff while Bedford Harriers concluded their Three Counties Cross-Counl campaign in Bedford. What a choice to make. San 10 toas once again in the focus for the Club 10 Mile Championship on 26 March. Some great times recorded and the club retaining the trophy for the club with the most participants on the day. April and the Oakley 20 which was another cracking day and some magical images captured and yet more to follow by those who did Rotterdam and London at the marathon distance. Stanwtck 1ust outside Rushden on Easter Monday witnessed incredible scenes and a number of prizes for the club as well it acted as the Club 10k Championship for 2006. Yet more magical images as May 8 witnessed 150 braoe souls tum up for the annual Indudlon ning at Bedford Athletc: Stadlum. Bedford Harriers has come a long way since my introduction to the club in 1990 and u11 continue to do so as 2006 unfolds before our oery eyes.

The Club's 2006 AGM (Annual General Meeting) was held on Wednesday 26th April. For those who were not able to attend the meeting (or who have not attended one as yet), the purpose of the AGM is twofold; to provide an update on the club's activities over the last twelve months and to elect committee members for the forthcoming membership year.

Updating members on the activities and progress of the club in 2005 was given via a series of reports. A report on the finances of the club was given by Christine, an update on the club's membership was given by Jacinta, Steve Gaunt gave a report on the team management, a report on coaching and training was given by Steve Clark and a report on the races which we organise ourselves was given by Steve Crane.

I'm very pleased to report that the tone of all of the reports was very upbeat. Due largely to the success of the five races which we organised in 2005, the finances of the club remain strong. Our membership also remains high and is expected to exceed 400 for the first time this year. Many individual members of the club continue to do well in races (as testified by the number of PBs achieved) and the Club continues to win team awards on a regular basis. On the coaching side, we now have over 30 qualified coaches and at least nine running groups including the beginners which alone have around half a dozen coaches assigned to it. The races which we organise ourselves continue to prove popular and in 2005 they attracted around 3,500 entrants and remain a very important source of revenue. Overall therefore, 2005 was another good year for the Harriers and we are hopeful that 2006 will be just as successful.

The Bedford Harriers committee elected for the 2006/2007 membership year was as follows: Brian McCallen was re-elected as Chairman, Jacinta Horne was re-elected as Vice Chairman and Membership Secretary, Christine Armstrong was re-elected as Treasurer and Lesley Barnes was re-elected as Secretary. Two new Club Officer Positions - Race Management Secretary and Coaching Secretary - were established at the meeting. Steve Crane was elected as Race Management Secretary and Steve Gaunt as Coaching Secretary. Also re-elected to the committee were Val Bird, Chris Capps, Tony Dadd and Phil Gray. Joining the committee for the first were Angela Kay, Richard Piron and Zoe Willett. Welcome All.

An Alternative London Marathon Story - by Mike Barnard -

Squeezed into a large tent with hundreds of strange men in various stages of undress is not how I would normally envisage spending the early part of Sunday morning. All the same that was the most expedient picture being painted at the London Marathon Green Start for the benefit of Andy Sewell and I as we bided our time with an hour and a half to kick our heels. The Hamers coach arrived in Greenwich with plenty of spare, unlike a previous occasion when the Clads had been closed off, forcing us to walk a good mile and a half.

perhaps not a scene being filmed for that BBC show in which Sally Gunnel goes up a load of cough polioes until they can "go the distance". I'm not sure how any of those people did but really, given the bandwagon-jumping and explosion or reality TV shows, we can probably expect Marathon Big Brother, in which a household of crisp-eating delinquents are put through a punishing 12-week programme leading up to the big day in time for next year's race. Tears and high notes in slow motion a Chariots of Fire soundtrack, I can already see it.

One downside of our early arrival, however, was being forced to kill the clock inside the tent, or get a good soaking outside it. How does the saying go, I'd rather be inside the tent peeing than outside the tent peeing in? Oh, never mind. So there we were, lolling with in tent. And as leaden skies gave way to cloudbursts there was really nowhere else to go for the participant a trickle turned into a flood and soon the tent was jam-packed with runners intent on going through their pre-race rituals of stretching, gallons of fluid -- with plenty of exposed bits and pieces along the way.

What of the race itself you say, I dunno. The plenty of alert spectators were clutching on the sidelines smelled so very tempting -- oh yes, I could smell the hoppy aroma from a distance of 20h -- and it was all I could do not to grab one from someone's pudgy little mitt. But I had to make do with the Starbursts and other sweet treats being offered by small children along the way as that honorable sensation of glucose depletion kicked in way too early. And another thing: if I hear Is This the Way to Amarillo anywhere at any time I'm going to have to strangle the individual responsible. Why would anyone attempt to complete the route, be they sprinter or stroller, be in any way inspired by this middle of the road claptrap? Jimi Hendrix or something I could understand.

Along with veterans who've put in a decent performance in the past, the Green Start is also where the celebrities gather before beginning their assault on the 26-mile task (or somewhat less in Jade Goody's case). Along with Jade, fresh from her lakeau, ay curry and beer training regime it could have told her that one doesn't mork. I fried it. we spoiled Gordon Ramsay C'r#@!#@@ marathoner and the tiresome bloke in absurd costume who takes da and da to complete the thing. This time got up in medieval knight costume. What a laugh, eh?

Somewhere along the way, about half an hour ahead of me, was Andy, probably home and hosed, shampooed and showered by the time I crossed that finish line. And no I didn't want my photo taken. You can keep the blasted medal too. So that's it for another year: marathon. schmarathon

Muzzamil Lakhani's StQry.- kindly obtained from Tony Dadd

Muzzamil is severely visually impaired. He was raised in Pakistan and despite his obvious intelligence; he was brought up to expect a life of unemployment and isolation. He came to the UK aged 20 having never ventured beyond the end of his street unescorted. Here, he enrolled on an MSC physics course at Bristol and since then, hasn't looked back.

His turning point was learning to walk independently with a long cane. A new social world opened up for him and within a year, Muzzamil not only became an outstanding student but learnt to speak German and play the piano, joined the choir, the partly-sighted football and cricket teams and a running club. He also took a counselling skills course and became a student mentor and ambassador for the university. Little wonder then that out of 2,300 entries he was voted International Student of the Year 2005 by the British Council.

Last year, Muzzamil ran the Bristol Half

Marathon to raise funds for the Snowdon Award Scheme in recognition of our support. Having trained with a sighted guide, he discovered on the race day that his guide was injured. Undeterred, Muzzamil ran with just the aid of his long cane and managed to complete the whole 13 mile course in just 1 hour 48 minutes!!

Sadly, in the euphoria of crossing the finishing line, Muzzamil collided with a lamp post and needed 32 stitches in his face. But he was still thrilled to have raised over £650 for the Scheme. Muzz This would be my FIRST effort at a full Marathon (26.2 miles/ 42 km). Running with a visual impairment is a challenge within itself. Yet the joy of training, living a healthy(ish) life, regular fitness regimes, and the entire atmosphere on the day makes it all the more worthwhile experience' RESULTS MUZZ ran the London Marathon on 23rd April 2006 (with 2 sighted guides!)

Team Management Report .:compil g by Stev Gaun .

I was going to start this months report by saying 'Where has the sun gone', but found it with a vengeance yesterday whilst competing in the BIG COW 10k at Emberton park and likewise for all the runners at our very own Harrold 10k today but I must not complain its TOO HOT, .. not yet anyway.

Its nice to see Harriers taking part in so many races with 44 at the Bedford 6, 37 at Silverstone 10k , and almost 20 at both Blisworth Sk and the Corby 5. A special mention must go to Tony Dadd , who has won 2 races this year (Mondi 15 in 1.28) and just recently the Market Deeping 10k, (35.32). A fantastic achievement I think you must agree! Morgan Walters ran a fabulous time at London and both Steve Eartey and Stuart Trevallion are improving all the time which is good for the men's team. Steve's recent best being 2nd at the Harrold 10k.

just about the front runners but to all of us middle fielders and back markers all with our own personal aims, goals and achievements to be proud of, considering all the training we do.

As the spring disappears and the summer months arrive the race calendar is at bursting point with so many events to choose from (see notice board or race calendar on our web site) but I will make a special mention of two local Sk's you may be interested in doing Firstly the Marston Vale 5k Friday June 23rd and our club championship race at Cranfield on Friday 7th July which will both reach the race limits well before the day, so please enter early to guarantee your places. We will also be looking for teams to take part in the Stevenage relays on July 18th which has always been a favorite with the club.

The Harriers Ladies have started where they left off last year picking up many team prizes as well as individual awards which would already fill up more space than I have been allocated for this report, but I think Donna McEwen, Andrea Ward Anna Litchfield and Veronica Singleton are worthy of a special mention.

It's been good to see many of you running and improving and as the summer progresses I am sure many more of you will have your own race day tales to tell.

The club is also organizing a relay around the Embankment for all coaching groups on Wednesday 12th July and a one mile charity time trial open to all club members on Wednesday 28th June. This year's charity is the Critical Care Complex at Bedford Hospital which was proposed by Jacinta Home and helps support life, a worthy charity I hope you agree, and therefore I hope you can give generously and support by running those 4 laps round the track.

The nice thing about the Harriers is it is not

Have a great summer

The Rome Marathon Experience - by Gabs Arpaia -

Wow! what a fantastic experience, it was probably one of the most physically demanding challenges I have ever undertaken, running in 20+ degree temperatures on a spectacular 42.195km course around the cobbled streets of Rome.

At 09:05, the race started, I crossed the start line just after 2 minutes (could not believe it) and it was along the via dei Fori Imperiali (6 lane Roman road) towards the impressive Vittorio Emanuele II (commonly known as the wedding cake for its shape and white colour). The crowds were out, the sun was out and this was it, onward we go past Circo Massimo (scene for the Roman Chariot racing). At 4km, I saw a sight I recognised, a fellow Bedford Harrier vest, it was Nora Haggart. We ran together for a while (and for those that know me, conversation was kept to a minimum, hard to believe but true), the course took us up and alongside the river Tiber. Then over the river heading towards the Vatican City, (this was truly a memorable moment, crowds were vast and extremely supportive with an amazing and inspiring view).

Whilst running together, we came across the first of many refreshment stations and to say it was chaotic would be an understatement. The tables were laid out on one side of the road, personal bottles, followed by water, then Gatorade, then more water and would you believe a picnic table of oranges, apples, pears, sugar and biscuits, the only thing missing was a bit of pizza and an expresso coffee. As you can imagine, runners were criss-crossing to pick up drinks and movins back to the other side of the road. To make matters worse, the helpers were pouring the drinks into cups rather than handing out bottles, poor helpers could not keep up with demand (job for the Harriers?). Anyway, by the second station I had devised a plan to run round the back of the tables and take a bottle from the pack.

At 10km, I said goodbye to Nora and wished her luck for the rest of the race, as I went in search of the light blue balloon, 8-minute pacesetters. The course meanders around the Vatican area, back towards the river and up towards the Olympic stadium, again another wonderful arena nestled amongst trees and parks. This part of the race was the furthest away from the finish at 20km as the route started to head back into Rome City centre.

Reaching the Basilica and the finishing line, the 40km marker was passed, fantastic, I knew I was going to make it but I just could not raise my pace, I felt I could have walked quicker. Then finally, the approach to the Colosseum was reached along the tree lined avenue Via di S.Gregorio, the finish line was in site, sprint (well more like jog) passed a Spaniard and a couple of Venetian Athletic Club Members, I was home, in 3hrs 42mins 4 seconds.

This was a personal best marathon time on a much tougher course and in testing conditions beating my previous London Marathon by 46 minutes, which I run before becoming a Harrier. Finally, a big thank-you to Steve Crane and the Saturday morning gang in particular, Lawrence and Pete (who have been with me from the start of these sessions over a year ago). To Steve & Viv and the group for my rapid improvement and progression over the past few months.

The London Marathon Experience - by Lesley Barnes, ;, ;.

Well, all those cold (and oh so windy) weekends of training were over. Nice social runs with Stuart, David et al, inspirationally led by Steve Crane about to be replaced by THE BIG ONE. I wonder if they put water out with little cups like Steve does.....?

An early start on the day meant breakfast was eaten on the coach, so I thought some toast with jam would be better than a bowl of porridge. Unfortunately no cup of tea though. Excitement was riding high, with nerves not very far behind. It was to be a bit of a family day, with both me and my daughter Vicky running, although not together - Vicky planned to run with her friend Hayley Matthews who also came on the coach. Both girls were raising funds for the Bedford Hospitals Charity Gamma Probe (and have raised over £2000 between them). Vicky of course is also a Harrier, and sometimes I think a Cheeky Girl-in-waiting. Both she and I also had the BSC to encourage us before the race and cheer us on during it.

Vicky and I started in separate starts, so had to part when we arrived (about 8am) and prepare for the start separately, her with her friend, and me with some of mine (plus of course another 30-ish thousand runners...). The preparation involved queueing for toilets (if you race, you'll know what that's like, ladies particularly!), applying copious amounts of petroleum jelly to all parts likely to chafe (enough said), getting into the final running kit, and then sitting huddled in a plastic charity cape to try to keep dry till the off.

As I reached Westminster, and made the turn into Birdcage Walk I knew I'd done it - the 26 mile marker was almost in sight. At the end Buckingham Palace awaited, and the glorious sign that says '800m to go'. At this point an unknown person from Bedford grabbed my hand and said 'Come on girl!' and we pretty much sprinted (well, it felt like it) round the front of the Palace, into The Mall, and to the finish, holding hands. Then followed much hugging, wiping away of tears, and a sharing of such an exhilarating feeling. Nick Kier • thanks, you were great.

What a day • what great memories, Afterwards I really found it hard to believe that I was there, and that I did it, until I tried to walk up and down stairs of course - ouch. I completed the race in 4 hours 35, and Vicky in 5 hours 43. We may not have crossed the line first, but we are winners nevertheless !!

Thanks to all the Harriers I saw on the course for your encouragement and support, thanks to the photographers of the day, Bill and Malcolm (great photo Male) and thanks to those that have coached us over the last 4 months and also came down on the day to support us • Steve, Steve and Greg. Thanks boys - it was a marathon for you too! By the way BSC? Boyfriend Support Crew alias Steve Gaunt and Greg Sharpe!

Can you help ?

I wanted to know if any other runners had used the 'Shoe Goo' product to repair the soles or heels of their running shoes, and if it actually worked? It's advertised on wiggles.co.uk and other running websites as a wonder rubber adhesive that repairs damaged shoes. It's a particular problem I have, as I soon wear down the right heel of my shoes, and wanted to know if this is worth trying, or is just something else to waste money on? Justin Openshaw

Flora London Marathon 1; 2001:1 Additional Places for London Marathon

You may be aware that the club is working to have additional places for the 2007 London Marathon. Many of you may know that the London Marathon is only possible with the help of many organisations and volunteers. For some of them, they are paid for the work they do, for others they do it for the additional free places and we have Club Members who have helped in the past to do just that.

With it getting harder and harder to get a place through the ballot the Committee thought it worth exploring what opportunities were available for us and how many places could be offered. The Committee has received an offer to marshal entrants from both Greenwich, and Blackheath Stations (Maze Hill will be done by Fairlands Valley, who already staff 2 baggage lorries) to the green, red and blue starts.

The marshalling is really nothing different to directing runners in one of our races, the difference is that this marshalling is before the race so everyone is walking, its in South London and the marshalling starts at 6.00am. So what does the Club get for this work? It will get 4 additional places which are available for the Committee and there are ongoing discussions on how best to distribute them. A coach to get the marshals down to South London and back will also be paid for by the Marathon organisers.

To fulfil our end of the arrangement we need about 40 people who are prepared to go down and be at the 2 stations at 6am next year in time for the first trains which come in at about 7am. For their efforts the marshals will get a FLM staff tee shirt, a medal (same shape and size as a finishers, but silver in colour and stamped official), and the trip to London is free. Once the marshalling work is finished at about 10am, they are free to do as they wish, The coach will be returning to Bedford at a time to be agreed, however likely to be around 2pm, from Greenwich, which leaves ample time to see some of the marathon.

The 4 additional places will be with the Club in time for the Awards Night in December, but that will be in the expectation that there will be 40 people who will come forward in April 2007.

In preparation for next year Steve Crane and I were at Blackheath and Greenwich stations on 23 April this year and after running in the previous 3 London Marathons, to be involved in marshalling this years was actually good fun and to participate was a real sense of achievement.
